

De Architectura

Author: Vitruvius

Historical Manuscript Collection

De Architectura is a multi-volume treatise by the Roman architect Vitruvius.

It covers topics ranging from building materials to acoustics in theaters.

Vitruvius emphasized harmony, proportion, and utility in architecture.

The work influenced Renaissance architects such as Leonardo da Vinci and Palladio.